

Areas of Interaction Coordinator

Guy is from New Zealand. His degree is in horticultural science. Before becoming a teacher he was a horticultural consultant, orchard manager and landscape designer. Guy also has a strong interest in song composition and has released 6 albums in his home country.

As a teacher, Guy has taught science in middle school and at diploma level. His specialty areas are biology, environmental science and plant science. He taught in several large New Zealand high schools before moving overseas to teach.

All teachers have core teaching beliefs, Guy's are that, enjoyment of the school environment is critical to quality learning, creativity is more important than knowledge, learning skills are more important than knowledge, and meaningful contributions to a community are best learnt early in life.
