

Alan Conkey

After teaching 12 years in Oregon, Alan began his overseas career teaching at the John F. Kennedy Schule in West Berlin in 1980 for two years. He then spent the next nineteen years as head of four international school: The American School of Zagreb in Croatia, The International School of Prague, Czech Republic, Academia Cotopaxi in Quito, Ecuador and The American International School of Rotterdam in The Netherlands. He holds a BA and M.Ed from the University of Oregon and is ABD from Boston University.

Alan was a founding member and president of the Central and Eastern European Schools Association, served on the European Council of International Schools board and on the board of the Academy for International School Heads. Presently Alan serves on two school boards as an advisor.

As a full-time Senior Governance Consultant with the Council of International Schools, Alan travels worldwide presenting On-Site Governance and Partnership Governance Workshops. He also works with schools on special projects especially in the areas of policy development and leadership. When not working he enjoys time at home in Florida playing golf-lots of golf.