

Monica Dexter

Monica has lived in India for over eleven years with her husband and two school age children. Being unable to find a school in Bangalore that met their aspirations for their children, and being passionate about education, Monica dreamed of creating a world class school. One that would provide children of internationally minded families with access to a highly qualified faculty and a strong curriculum which was both relevant to the needs of those who live and work in a global and challenging world and embraced the unique Indian experience.

In conversations with Jitu Virwani of the Embassy Group she realized that they shared a similar vision, and so Stonehill International School was born.

Monica has a BA in history from Manchester University, UK and holds the CFA qualification. She worked as a stockbroker in London and Hong Kong in the 1980's and 90's before moving to India.
